4th Annual Conference

June 20-22, 2006
Nashville, Tennessee

Women of Color Leadership Institute
June 19, 2006

Sharing a Common Vision: Ensuring a Brighter Future

PRE-CONFERENCE MEETINGS

WOMEN OF COLOR LEADERSHIP INSTITUTE

The Women of Color Leadership Institute focuses on the cultural implications of violence and its relationship to communities of color. This year, the Institute will provide participants with a working understanding of the importance of using an intersectional framework to address domestic violence and sexual assault; build the leadership skills of women of color to lead movements for social and political change; strategize about ways to build coalitions and alliances across difference; and talk about ways that we can do or work differently and/or integrate an intersectional approach into our programs.

The Institute features presenter Dr. C. Nicole Mason. She is the founder and the Executive Director of the National Women's Alliance, a multi-issue, human rights and social justice women of color organization. Nicole is a community organizer and activist of over nine years and has worked on a range of social justice issues including violence against women, the prison industrial complex, LGBTQ rights, prostitution, reproductive rights, welfare reform, and racial and economic justice. She is the Author of Addressing Violence Against Women: An Intersectional Model and Approach for Service Providers, Advocates and Community Leaders. She was guest editor of the Howard University Conference Proceeding on Violence Against Women. Presently, she is a member of the Institute for Women's Policy Research Advisory Board for the Status of Women in the Fifty States and the California Coalition Against Sexual Violence Advisory board for the Department of Justice since 1999.

Tuesday Morning Keynote

“Prevention is Possible”

Sally J. Laskey joined the National Sexual Violence Resource Center (NSVRC) in 2001 and currently serves as Associate Director. The NSVRC is a comprehensive collection and distribution center for information, research and emerging policy on sexual violence intervention and prevention. Ms. Laskey manages several national technical assistance projects that are focused on the development and enhancement of victim-centered multidisciplinary responses to sexual violence. She has worked in the anti-sexual violence field for over 15 years at local, state and national levels. Ms. Laskey worked as an advocate, prevention educator, trainer, researcher, consultant, and as the Direct Services Coordinator for the Sexual Harassment and Rape Prevention Program at the University of New Hampshire. Ms. Laskey received her bachelors in Sociology from the University of New Hampshire, and is currently pursuing a masters in Community Psychology and Social Change from Pennsylvania State University. Ms. Laskey supports sexual assault prevention efforts across the country through consultation and technical assistance. She is a member of the Society for Community Research and Action.

Tuesday Luncheon Keynote

“Preventing Violence Against Women Before it Happens”

David Lee, MPH is the Prevention Connection Manager at the California Coalition Against Sexual Assault (CALCASA) where he coordinates online discussion forums on preventing violence against women. He is the manager of MyStrength, CALCASA's social marketing campaign to engage young men to prevent sexual violence. Previously, Mr. Lee was Regional Director at STAND! Against Domestic Violence in Contra Costa County, California, Community Education Director at Support Network for Battered Women in Santa Clara, California, Program Director at Children's Self-Help Center (a child sexual abuse prevention program) in San Francisco, California, and volunteer coordinator/community educator for Men Overcoming Violence (MOVE) in San Francisco. Mr. Lee has been involved in the movement to end sexual assault and domestic violence since 1982. He focuses on prevention and the development of community responses to end violence against women. He has spoken at conferences throughout the country on violence prevention. He has developed and provided training to educators, health care professionals, law enforcement, clergy, faith leaders, business leaders, social workers therapists, welfare workers, substance abuse treatment providers, youth, and community organizations. Mr. Lee completed his Masters in Public Health at University of California Berkeley in Community Health Education, focusing on violence prevention, evaluation, and violence prevention research.

Wednesday Morning Keynote

“The Role of Culture in Resilience and Healing from Family Violence”

Olga Trujillo, J.D., is a consultant and an attorney who, after nearly thirteen years with the United States Department of Justice, started her own business, O.R.T. Solutions, where she works on immigration and trafficking issues as well as sexual assault, domestic violence and child abuse. She has worked with the Family Violence Prevention Fund to develop a multidisciplinary training curriculum on human trafficking for domestic violence and sexual assault advocates as well as law enforcement. She has also assisted the Battered Women’s Justice Project in the development of Immigration Guidebooks for advocates, law enforcement, and prosecutors.

Thursday Morning Keynote

“Combating Fatigue: Enriching the Compassion Connection”

Keith Wilson, is the co-founder and original co-director of the Rape and Sexual Abuse Center of Nashville (1978). Currently he is a Family Advocacy Program Therapist at Fort Campbell, Kentucky. He was in private practice with his wife, Pam Wilson, for seventeen years at the Wilson Center for Performance in El Paso, Texas. They specialized in personal trauma recovery. Dr. Wilson has been a performance consultant for ten years in El Paso and is a consultant with The Winning Mind in San Diego, CA. Dr. Wilson has graduate degrees from Vanderbilt University, University of Tennessee, and Boston University.

Thursday Luncheon Keynote

“What we Think we Know Can Hurt Us!”

Linda Manning became the Director of the Margaret Cuninggim Women's Center at Vanderbilt University in November of 1997. She is also a Senior Lecturer in Psychology/Women's Studies and teaches Gender and Violence and Feminist Approaches to Clinical Practice for undergraduates and Trauma:

Impact and Intervention for graduate students in the Human Development Counseling Program. Prior to coming to Vanderbilt, she was the Director of Psychological Services at St. Edward's University in Austin, Texas. Dr. Manning completed her Ph.D. in Counseling Psychology at the University of Texas at Austin in 1988. She has conducted programming and training activities related to gender equity and diversity issues for over twenty years. As a therapist, she specializes in working with survivors of trauma. Dr. Manning is a member of the Clinical Services Committee of the Rape and Sexual Abuse Center. She is a member of the American Psychological Association, the Society for the Psychology of Women, the National Women's Studies Association and the Jean Baker Miller Training Institute Research Network.

W o r k s h o p s

Tuesday, June 20

Session A Workshops: 1:00 – 2:30 PM

A1) “An Overview of Title VI and LEP Requirements” (Part I)

Luz Lopez-Ortiz

Richard Waters

U.S. Department of Justice, Washington, D.C.

This two-part presentation will focus on the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination based on color, race, and national origin in programs and activities receiving federal financial assistance. In addition, this workshop will address Executive Order 13166, which instructs federal agencies to implement language access programs to ensure that limited-English proficient persons have meaningful access to the programs and activities that these federal agencies provide. Following the discussion of Executive Order 13166, participants will gain knowledge about the enforcement of Title VI and its LEP requirements through the use of investigative techniques and the compliance review process.

A2) “It’s Love, Isn’t It?”

Janet Cavett

Partnership Crisis Resource Center, Chattanooga, TN

This Crisis Resource Center uses a play written and produced by the agency called “It’s Love, Isn’t It?” as an educational tool in local middle and high schools, university groups, and professional settings. It focuses on a teenage relationship that becomes abusive, including the role of both victim and abusers’ households and friends of the victim. We will watch the play. Following the play, the workshop will include a ‘debriefing’ of the play, as well as more extensive education and preventative information on teen dating violence.

A3) “Helping Everyone Heal”

Lani K. Ramos

TICCA, Nashville, TN

This presentation will address violence within the home and the specific needs of children and caregivers from these homes. The national initiative to address the impact of violence on children and the therapeutic processes considered best practices do not necessarily address the needs of children and their caregivers.

A4) “Common Differences: Building an Inclusive Movement to End Sexual Assault and Domestic Violence”

Dr. C. Nicole Mason

National Women's Alliance, Washington, D.C.

This workshop will introduce participants to the Intersectional Approach Model to Addressing Violence Against Women and strategize about ways the Model can be used to organize across racial, cultural, ethnic, class, and other markers of difference. Using case studies and experiences from the field, participants will have the opportunity to explore the challenges and barriers to building effective coalitions and alliances.

Tuesday, June 20

Session B Workshops: 2:45 – 4:15 PM

B1) “An Overview of Title VI and LEP Requirements” (Part II)

Luz Lopez-Ortiz

Richard Waters

U.S. Department of Justice, Washington, D.C.

This two-part presentation will focus on the requirements of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, which prohibits discrimination based on color, race, and national origin in programs and activities receiving federal financial assistance. In addition, this workshop will address Executive Order 13166, which instructs federal agencies to implement language access programs to ensure that limited-English proficient persons have meaningful access to the programs and activities that these federal agencies provide. Following the discussion of Executive Order 13166, participants will gain knowledge about the enforcement of Title VI and its LEP requirements through the use of investigative techniques and the compliance review process.

B2) “Primary Prevention of Violence Against Women”

David Lee, MPH

California Coalition Against Sexual Assault, Sacramento, CA

In this workshop, participants will review the ecological model. An interactive exercise will explore how to develop prevention activities on a community level and prevent violence before it begins. Participants will be able to apply potential violence against women prevention activities to the socio-ecological model and identify challenges in developing primary prevention activities on a community level.

B3) “Working with Gay and Bisexual Men who have been Sexually Assaulted”

Rus Ervin Funk, MSW

Louisville, KY

This workshop will examine how gay and bisexual men relate to societal definitions of masculinity. We will look at the experience of men who have been sexually assaulted and how gay and bisexual men who are raped experience masculinity. We will also address treatment and advocacy issues.

B4) “Cross-Cultural Competencies in Shelter”

Julie Blankenship
Dana Rehberger
Families in Crisis, Inc.
McMinnville, TN

The lack of cross-cultural competence is a new experience for many shelters as we are facing a growing population of immigrants. It is the responsibility of the advocate and shelter to ensure that clients are made to feel comfortable and understood. Access to bilingual literature, interpreters, and understanding of cultural differences are difficult barriers that we must overcome. Through learning about other cultures and their norms, we will enable ourselves to better serve the community as a whole.

Wednesday, June 21

Session C Workshops: 10:00 – 11:30 AM

C1) “Impact of Domestic Violence on Children”

Olga Trujillo, Esq.
ORT Solutions, Arlington, VA

In this interactive workshop, Olga Trujillo discusses the coping skills and resiliency she learned through personal experience as a survivor and unravels the connections between these essential skills and her vulnerability to rape and sexual violence as an adult. Through her experience working with communities around the country, she explores with the group strategies to address these complex cases. Her workshop offers insight into what it means to be a survivor, what we can do to prevent further victimization of young women, and what we all do to help survivors.

C2) “What’s in a Name: Primary Prevention or Outreach?”

Brad Perry, MA
Virginia Sexual and Domestic Violence Action Alliance, Charlottesville, VA
Over the last two years we have developed numerous strategies seeking to educate and galvanize the public on the issues of sexual and domestic violence. With the application of the public health model to our work, we have been shown some important distinctions between these various strategies. Perhaps most notably, there has been much attention paid to initiatives that are consistent with a primary prevention approach. However, there seems to be confusion in the field; initiatives are often classified as primary prevention when they are in fact not. This misconception most commonly emerges with ‘outreach’ initiatives. This workshop will attempt to clarify this confusion by contrasting primary prevention initiatives with outreach initiatives. An understanding of the defining characteristics of these approaches facilitates greater precision in the planning and implementing of SV/DV strategies.

C3) “Why Doesn’t She Leave?”

Annette Beebe

YWCA, Knoxville, TN

Thomas Barr

Domestic Violence Unit, Knoxville, TN Police Department

Working with victims of domestic violence is both frustrating and stressful – not only for the client, but also for the client’s caregivers and local victim advocacy groups. This workshop will tackle issues that make our jobs difficult. We will identify and explore misconceptions, beliefs, and facts, and hopefully discover some solutions. We will leave feeling rejuvenated and empowered.

C4) “Your Board of Directors: Boon or Boondoggle?”

Janell Clark

Genesis House, Clarksville, TN

This interactive group workshop will guide participants in assessing their boards. Participants will rank their boards on a scale of 1-10 in terms of board role, function, responsibility, and member qualifications. They will learn skills to build a knowledgeable and productive board. Participants will also produce a draft plan of action for their respective Board of Directors.

Wednesday, June 21

Session D Workshops: 1:15 – 2:45 PM

D1) “An Overview of Child Support Services”

Child Support Services of Tennessee

Nashville, TN

This overview of child support services will cover Families First eligibility, Good Cause determination, non-cooperation procedures, and establishment of paternity and child support orders.

D2) “Collaboration”

David Lee, MPH

California Coalition Against Sexual Assault, Sacramento, CA

In this interactive workshop, participants will explore the value and challenges in developing partnerships and collaborations to prevent violence against women. Strategies to develop and maintain collaborations will be discussed. Participants will be able to identify potential partners in violence against women activities and strategies to overcome challenges in developing partnerships.

D3) “Understanding and Preventing Sexual Re-Victimization”

Jennifer Y. Levy, Ph.D.

University of Tennessee, Martin, TN

It is often difficult when, as a service provider, we are presented with a client who has been assaulted multiple times throughout his or her lifespan. Re-assaults may include any combination of single or multiple episodes or childhood sexual abuse and/or single or multiple episodes of sexual assault as an adult. This workshop will present what is known from the research about re-victimization and will draw on the presenter’s extensive clinical experience to help participants develop approaches to help survivors prevent further assaults.

D4) “Wage and Hour”

Rebecca Wells Demaree, Esq.

Cornelius & Collins, LLP, Nashville, TN

This workshop will focus on wage and hour laws and how they affect our programs. The presenter will discuss exempt and nonexempt classifications, using volunteers, comp time, employee breaks, on-call time, travel, stipends, and gifts.

Wednesday, June 21

Session E Workshops: 3:00 – 4:30 PM

E1) “Specific Remedies for Enforcement of Child and Medical Support”

Child Support Services of Tennessee

Nashville, TN

This session will provide insightful information on the Tennessee child support guidelines, procedures for ensuring compliance with child support orders, and interstate child support enforcement.

E2) “Reaching Men to End Sexism and Violence”

Rus Ervin Funk, MSW

Louisville, KY

This engaging and interactive workshop explores how to effectively educate men about rape and sexual assault in ways that engage men to take action to respond to and prevent rape and sexual assault. Recognizing that men are not a monolithic group, this workshop also addresses multicultural issues in educating men.

E3) “Enhancing Cultural Competency: Race, Class & Domestic Violence”

Nicole Gordon, MSW

Cole Solutions, Nashville, TN

This workshop will guide participants in an examination of the cultural issues of race, class, and gender. Participants will explore how these issues interact with domestic violence, how the lack of knowledge and skills of providers may exacerbate violence and how enhancing individuals and organizational cultural competency can improve services within these communities.

E4) “Quality and Equality: A Workshop for Community Accountability”

Annette Beebe

YWCA, Knoxville, TN

Thomas Barr

Domestic Violence Unit, Knoxville Police Department, Knoxville, TN

A community-based response is the only effective way to end domestic violence. In this workshop, we will discuss equality and tolerance within agencies that serve victims of domestic violence. We will also discuss underserved populations and how beliefs, myths, phobias, misconceptions, fears, private agendas, and egos prevent us from ending domestic violence in our communities.

Thursday, June 22

Session F Workshops: 10:00 – 11:30 AM

F1) “Working with Immigrant Communities”

Olga Trujillo, Esq.

ORT Solutions, Arlington, VA

This workshop will take an interactive approach to learning. The presenter will guide the audience through the dynamics and laws involved in working with immigrant victims. She will draw on the experience of the audience to analyze and develop strategies for alternative services, innovative efforts, and new partnerships and collaborations to enhance your work with survivors. Case scenarios will be examined and national efforts explored.

F2) “Are We Effective?: Developing and Implementing Successful Education and Training Programs”

Rus Ervin Funk, MSW

Louisville, KY

This presentation will offer a public health and human rights framework for educating, exploring collaborations with community partners to increase effectiveness, clarifying and defining effectiveness for the purposes of educating, and addressing culture and cultural differences within educational programs. Participants will come away with concrete knowledge and suggestions for improving the effectiveness of their educational efforts.

F3). " Combating Compassion Fatigue"

Keith Wilson, LCSW
Fort Campbell, KY

This is a skill acquisition workshop in which you will learn important performance skills that can be used during the workday to contain compassion fatigue. When workers are able to stay refreshed every hour of every day of the work week, their performance increases, the more fun they have at work, and their compassion connection becomes stronger.

F4) "Working Collaboratively to Provide Culturally Competent Services in Rural Appalachia"

Gloria Gammell
CHIPS Family Violence Shelter, Erwin, TN
Deborah Yeomans, Esq.
Legal Aid of East Tennessee, Johnson City, TN

This workshop will present the challenges and benefits of collaborating to provide culturally competent services in rural Appalachia. The presenters will not only provide a definition of "culturally competent" and a rationale for the importance of culturally competent services, but they will also discuss how to implement services in spite of the "good ol' boy" network that may be found in many parts of rural Appalachia. A case study will be presented for session participation.

Thursday, June 22

Session G Workshops: 1:15 – 2:45 PM

G1) "Understanding Human Trafficking"

Olga Trujillo, Esq.
ORT Solutions, Arlington, VA

This dynamic and interactive presentation will examine the unique issues of handling cases involving human trafficking. We will discuss the dynamics of human trafficking, how it happens, related laws, and response efforts around the country. The presentation will also examine how to identify if an individual is being trafficked, techniques for interviewing victims of trafficking, and will explore practical strategies for collaborating with immigrant communities and other service providers.

G2) "Shifting Our Focus: Talking to Men as Prevention"

Kacy Silverstein, M.Ed.
Associate Director, Project Safe, Vanderbilt University
Vicki Basra, MSSW
Director, Project Safe, Vanderbilt University

Nashville, TN

For years, violence against women advocates have focused on telling women how they can restrict their lives as a way of preventing violence. These messages have created a culture where we unintentionally victim blame and give women a false sense of security and safety. What would happen if we shifted focus from women's actions to masculinity and the male culture? This presentation will examine why we need to start talking to men, how to talk to men, and why it is imperative that we shift our prevention focus to one that challenges concepts of hegemonic masculinity and critically analyzes the "rape culture" in which we live.

G3) "Healthy Sexuality: What is It and How do I Get it?"

Melinda Maiden

Johnson City, TN

Healthy sexuality is often overlooked as a component for healing from trauma. We often cannot identify healthy sexual behaviors and are uncomfortable discussing sex. This workshop will identify healthy sexuality, ways to get comfortable in your own skin, methods to teach healthy sexuality to clients, and ways to incorporate these skills into a beneficial outlook.

G4) "Employment Issues"

Rebecca Wells Demaree, Esq.

Cornelius & Collins, LLP

This presenter will discuss state and federal laws governing employment issues in Tennessee. The workshop will cover the hiring process, initial interviews, grievance procedures, job descriptions, and employee terminations.

Thursday, June 22

Session H Workshops: 3:00 – 4:30 PM

H1) "Legal Advocacy"

Robin Kimbrough, Esq.

Tennessee Coalition Against Domestic and Sexual Violence

Nashville, TN

This workshop is a crash course on how to obtain an order of protection and the remedies available through this order with informative tips on advocacy for victims in this process.

H2) "Youth Suicide Prevention and Early Intervention Training"

Janelle Douglas

Tennessee Suicide Prevention Network, Nashville, TN

This training will give participants an overview of suicide statistics in the state of Tennessee as they relate to youth, some of the warning signs of suicidal intent, concrete examples of how to intervene with a suicidal person, and a directory of resources to use in obtaining help for the suicidal person.

H3) “Understanding Child Sexual Abuse”

Charla McCall, Clinical Director

Rape & Sexual Abuse Center, Nashville, TN

This presentation is designed specifically for those working with children who have been sexually abused. We will discuss signs and symptoms, long-term effects, disclosure, and counseling techniques.

H4) “Power and Control: A Call for Bullying Prevention and Intervention”

Lueann Coleman

Sanctuary, Inc., Hopkinsville, KY

This workshop will examine bullying as an issue of power and control. Participants will learn how to create a school culture in which bullying is not tolerated and how to implement interventions for both children who bully and children who are targets of bullying.

Specialized Conference Tracks

Legal Advocacy Training Track

The Legal Track will focus on legal issues pertinent to survivors of domestic and sexual violence. Presenters will explore such issues as Title VI, child support, legal advocacy, working with immigrant communities, and human trafficking. Workshops will focus on building collaborations between providers to better serve immigrant and trafficked victims.

CLE credit for this track is pending; contact our office at 800-289-9018 or csengkhounmany@tcadsv.org for more information.

Welcome to Williamson County!

Welcome to historic Williamson County, Tennessee - located 100 years and a few short miles from Nashville! You'll find the best of both worlds here: small-town charm and big-city sophistication. You'll also enjoy historic sites, magnificent Antebellum and Victorian homes, the Natchez Trace Parkway - plus great shopping, antique hunting, unique dining and entertainment, championship golf, wonderful festivals and outstanding lodging! And all just minutes from Nashville, "Music City USA!"

Visitors to Historic Downtown Franklin experience an award winning Great American Main Street town. Beautifully renovated historic buildings house an eclectic mix of shops, galleries, and restaurants. Don't miss the chance to catch the latest movie at Franklin Cinema, which offers a comfortable atmosphere for food, fun, friends and film.

Venture a few blocks away and you'll find The Factory at Franklin, a renovated 300,000 square foot retail, dining and entertainment complex. The Factory features concerts, dining, shopping, meetings, art galleries, decorators' showcases, antiques, a Farmer's Market, offices and more. For the traditional mall lover, Cool Springs Galleria is just right across the interstate from the hotel!

While downtown, take advantage of walking tours of historic Franklin. Franklin on Foot guided walking tours give residents and visitors alike the opportunity to learn more about the history of this charming southern town from enthusiastic guides who will make your walking tour an unforgettable experience. Franklin on Foot offers the Classic Franklin Tour, an enlightening trip through the city's past, including the history of some of the downtown area's most historic buildings including the first three-story building in Tennessee and the site of a peace treaty, a church for freed slaves, an antebellum courthouse and the punishments meted out there, and St. Paul's Episcopal Church with its treasure in stained glass. You will hear about the man who didn't want to live one hour longer than his wife, and died exactly one hour after she did...and the exploits of a most unlikely spy. The cost is $10 for adults. The Classic Tour times are: Monday-Saturday mornings at 10:30 a.m. Reservations are required by 6:00 p.m. the previous evening. Call (615) 400-3808 to make a reservation or to schedule a private tour. Tours cover six blocks and last approximately 90 minutes. Dress for the weather and wear comfortable walking shoes.
